Dear Berea Alumni and Friends,

I am pleased to present the 2015-2016 President's Report and commend it for your review.

The Report contains information about our strong financial position and data pertaining to our sources of fiscal support. These pages are wonderful documentation of the dedication and generosity of the many, many people who have partnered with us to support the mission of Berea College as expressed in its eight Great Commitments. Berea truly thrives only because of this partnership, which is something we never forget. The report also lists the names of the Berea College Board of Trustees and national alumni leaders, all of whom lend their time, passion, professional expertise, and financial support to the benefit of this remarkable and transformative institution.

Lyle D. Roelofs, President

The 2015-16 year has been one of unparalleled success at Berea College. The financial position of the College remained strong and, in fact, got even stronger. Graduation rates continued to improve, and members of the graduating class and other young alumni have moved on to truly impressive careers and other next steps. This has also been a banner year in terms of fundraising with the Berea Fund achieving an all-time record by exceeding $4,355,000 in current year support along with strong progress on our mini-campaign to provide funding for a new facility that will house math, the sciences, and nursing. April 21, 2016, featured a groundbreaking ceremony for the Margaret A. Cargill Natural Sciences and Health Building, and, as I write this note, excavation of the site, which is north of the Danforth Technology Building, has been completed, foundations have been poured, and steel is reaching for the bright autumn skies.

The success of the Berea Fund was due in part to incredible support on campus. A student-led group, known as the Berea Patrons, joined together and worked throughout the year to encourage one another to support the College and the Berea Fund through payroll deductions. Imagine that – students becoming donors while still on campus! By the end of the year the Berea Patrons numbered 827, more than half of the student body, and the funds they gave exceeded $20,000. The students have become an example to the rest of the community—the percentage of students giving easily exceeded all other categories of donors, and I'd venture to suppose as well that this group is giving a larger percentage of their income than most of the rest of us! In addition to the science building, other improvements to our campus facilities and infrastructure are continuing. The renovation of Bingham Hall is complete and students are enjoying the improvements, and work has begun on Seabury Hall. All projects are a part of the effort to maintain a campus fully equipped to provide “the best education money can't buy” for leaders in the 21st century and beyond.

Imagine that – students becoming donors while still on campus! By the end of the year the Berea Patrons numbered 827, more than half of the student body.

It is critical, both for the needs of the many students we serve and as an example to the rest of the country, that the inspiring and unique experiment that is Berea College continue to succeed. No one can predict the future, and some say that real financial challenges await us because of the slow growth projected for the world's financial markets. Especially in such times of uncertainty, Berea's history of responsible financial planning and the many prudent measures that have been developed to prepare for various eventualities are real reasons for confidence. We thank you for your partnership in ensuring that continued financial success.

In conclusion, the Bereans on campus again want me to convey to you, the Bereans in other places across the country and even around the world, just how grateful we are for your continued support and interest. Truly you are a blessing to us!

BEREA COLLEGE HONOR ROLL OF GIVING

A MESSAGE FROM THE VICE PRESIDENT

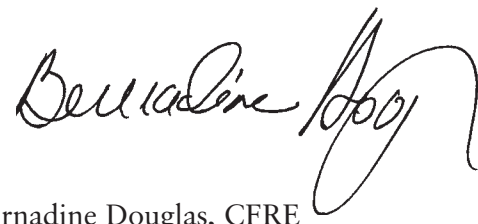

In 2015, we celebrated several milestones in the College's history, including one of our best years for philanthropy. Buoyed by the campaign for the Margaret A. Cargill Natural Sciences and Health Building, it was also a year where over 50 percent of the student body did what Bereans do best...they gave back. I think each student's decision to become a Berea Patron, through the student giving program, comes from understanding how very different their experience is from their counterparts at schools across the country. Consider this, the average 2015 college graduate left school with around $35,000 in student loan debt, nearly $28,000 more than the average for a Berea graduate.

Yes, I think our students realize how lucky they are to be at a place that not only provides a Tuition Promise Scholarship but one that grants them access to one of the best faculties and academic programs in the nation. They are also inspired by all of you who time and time again, year after year step forward to make our mission possible. Thank you. Berea is here because of all of you. More than the financial support you give to the College, it is your prayers, the hopes you pour into Berea and its students that enables us to do this incredible work and for our students to receive a high-quality liberal arts education and a head start in living the life of their dreams.

This is why, in 2015, when the College received the opportunity to build a new home for our science, nursing, and math programs we could step forward boldly and take on the challenge. The campaign for the Margaret A. Cargill Natural Sciences and Health Building is the most ambitious in our history, not just because of its size, but also because we were given less than three years to raise the required funds. We are ahead of where many thought we would be by this time; however, together we must continue to press forward so that the campus may celebrate and our students may have a building that matches their aspirations.

Many of my favorite Christian scriptures tell stories of unlikely heroes, like David, who did not lose heart even when others backed down from taking on challenges like the giant Philistine warrior, Goliath. All of you who have contributed to overcoming the many challenges faced by the College have been heroes to 1,600 deserving students. We thank you for your steadfastness and your generosity. Because of you, we can celebrate a year of successes and look forward to greater things ahead.

Bernadine Douglas, CFRE

We wish to thank all of you for your commitment to the mission of Berea College. Your support of Berea sustains an inclusive, educational community where people from all backgrounds learn, work, and serve together. Because of you, 1,600 young people are preparing to change the world.
 — Lyle and Laurie Roelofs, President and First Lady of Berea College

President's Club

July 1, 2015-June 30, 2016

Lifetime memberships to the President's Club are now conferred to those who have already contributed $20,000 or more to Berea College or indicate their intention of contributing $2,000 annually until $20,000 has been reached (including past donations).

Those who became members prior to July 1, 2003 retain their membership under the previous criteria.

Supporting Berea College is an amazing investment—for a relatively small contribution, an immense amount of good gets put into the wider world. Berea develops citizens who want to make a difference, know how to work with others, and how to cross boundaries to make positive changes. By supporting Berea, I'm helping propel talented, energetic young people into living lives that are sure to make a difference for others, too.

— Mark Nigro, Program Associate at the Brushy Fork Institute

I give to Berea because Berea gave to me. My experience as a student transformed every aspect of my life. I can trace back many of my opportunities and successes to the quality of education that I received and the opportunities I had to communicate with professors and with students from different races, ethnicities, and countries. The experience allowed me to explore the world and at the same time I became more self-aware. I give back because I want the next student who comes from a similar background to have the same experience. — Celeste Patton Armstong '90, Trustee

On Giving Day

As they have for the past 141 years, students gathered at the Pinnacles on Mountain Day to celebrate the history and culture of the Appalachian region. The event offers the chance to build community while reflecting on Bereans' shared commitment to the environment and sustainable living.

We [students] have a perspective that no one else has. We are here on campus, we see what it's like here, we see all the opportunities, and all the things we've been given and offered. We should know better than anybody how important it is to give to someone else. I give back to Berea because Berea's an incredible place, and I've been granted this opportunity. By donating a couple of dollars out of my paycheck, I'm helping somebody get this same opportunity.

Before I came, I didn't know a lot about its mission, or the commitments, or the rest of Berea's history. But, I do now, and I give to Berea because I believe in its mission and in the potential of our students. Besides the other things I do – teaching, advising, serving on committees – donating is another way I can support Berea College. So once I was asked to give, and I got the pledge card, there wasn't any thought about it. It was just a yes – absolutely – I will.

I really like Berea College's mission. Being an alum, I know how it helped me and helped a lot of my friends. Having come back to teach, I've seen a lot of positive outcomes from Berea College, so I give to help, and hopefully to keep moving us forward.

I think of Berea not just as a place of learning, but also as a family. I feel that's an important reason why students are here and that it's a reason to give. I love working with students, and I want students to succeed no matter what the cost is. I'm a firm believer that everybody deserves a college education, that the social or economic background you come from shouldn't matter. Let's pave the way for more students to come here. Let's make these classes bigger and better, with the best and brightest students.

CLASS NOTES

The Berea College Alumni Association enjoys hearing from Bereans from all over the U.S. and the world. The "Class Notes" section of Berea College Magazine (BCM) reports verifiable news you wish to share with your alumni friends and associates. "Class Notes" reports careers, weddings, retirements, births, and other items of importance to our alumni. Please include your class year and name used while attending Berea. Notes may be edited for style and length. While we will make every effort to put your information into the next issue of BCM, some delays due to printing schedule may occur. We appreciate your understanding. Submit class notes and photographs via email: alumninews@berea.edu.
